

Tigers and Hal Farris Shine in 27-6 Conquest Of Greenville Friday

The Tigers averaged last years drubbing at the hands of Greenville Friday night when they out-fought, out-gained and out-scored Greenville 27-6 on the Elba field. In 1949 Elba suffered a humiliating 53-12 rout. With Hal Farris leading the way, the locals turned in their best game of the season. Starting in the first quarter, the Bengals took command of the game to lead throughout. After losing the ball on downs on the Greenville 5, Elbas' forward wall broke through and blocked an attempted punt. Hal Farris went into the end zone with it. Conner went over for the extra point.

Another punt, this one 30 yards, by Farris in the second quarter along with the Wise to Conner pass put the locals ahead, 14-0. A Greenville punt nestled their six points to make the score 14-6 at the half.

In the third stanza Wise tossed a 21-yard pass to Jimmy Scott for a counter. Farris ended the scoring in the final period with a touchdown and extra point.

If Hal Farris does as well in the remaining two grid contests, he will close his prep football career in the best possible way. Against Geneva the husky full-back accounted for three touchdowns and an extra point, carrying the ball 12 times, he piled up 223 yards. In back of the line on the defense, he made his share of the tackles that kept Greenville ball toters from getting very far into the secondary defense of Elba.

Other standouts for Elba were Nalls, J. Farris, Devane, Wise and Enzer.

Elba takes her final road trip of the football season Friday to face a team with a fair record this season. The locals will be at full strength for their next-to-the-last contest of the gridiron year.

Geneva has been routed twice this season. Florida trounced them 34-6 while Dothan romped over them, 47-13. On the won side of the ledger, Geneva rolled over Newton, 31-6, slipped past Enterprise, 13-7, defeated Samson, 7-0, and downed Ozark, 28-12.

About People and Things

By C. B. McDowell

Cut Off Eight Days

Mr. and Mrs. Hollan Harrison recently received a letter from Mrs. Charles Harrison describing the harrowing experience of her husband, Captain Charles Harrison, who was captured by the enemy in Korea and was without food or other supplies for eight days. He was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for bravery and meritorious service. He is serving in the famous 24th Division and was sent from Japan to Korea in the early days of hostilities there.

OLD LANDMARK RAZED

One of Elba's old landmarks is being torn down to make way for progress. What is known as the old Stephens' home at the corner of Buford Street and Troy Highway, was built many many years ago.

It is said that in Elba's early days the Judge Stephens' home was headquarters for men and beast when visiting in the city. So long as there was room in the home or barn, no visitor was turned away. The Stephens' home was known for its hospitality.

The most recent resident of the property were Paxton Miles and family. Mr. Miles sold the property to the Morgan Bros. Oil Company of Opp, who sold the building to Solicitor E. F. Paul.

He will use the materials from the old building which are being used for the purpose of erecting a Pan-Am service station.

GOT THEM ANYHOW

Gordon Mathis said he and Jordan Lindsey recently went sucker fishing and had an unusual experience. He said Jordan was fishing with four poles and he was using three. They both hung large red horse suckers which circled all of their lines in such manner that all of their tackle became hopelessly tangled. However, after about 20 minutes, they succeeded in landing both fish in the boat. Mr. Mathis said they caught several other nice fish.

ARMISTICE DAY IN ELBA

As Armistice Day, Nov. 11, fell on Saturday, most of the Elba firms closed on Monday. The post office observed Saturday as their day off. In this section the day passed without mishap, but there were numerous traffic and other accidents reported in various spots in Alabama.

JUDGE TRAWICK IMPROVING

Judge P. B. Trawick, who has been confined to his home on Smith Ave. for many months with a serious illness, is greatly improved and is able to get up a good deal of the time. Many friends in Elba and throughout this section will be glad to learn of his improved condition. He practiced law here for many years.

KILLS HUGE RATTLER

While squirrel hunting the first of the week, Bobby Bullard, Eugene Devane and Carlton Whitman killed one of the largest rattlesnakes seen in this section in a long time. It measured over six feet in length. It had only three rattles which give credence to the theory that a rattler has a rattle for each year of its age. Rattlesnake authorities agree that they frequently shed or lose rattles for one cause or another.

NO DANGER OF ROLLING

Rev. Clyde Rhodes said when Shin Senger, the high diver, came to Elba he was the first man he could remember who somebody didn't want to roll for his job. He said he hadn't heard of anyone trying to do any rolling in Mr. Senger's case.

Growth of the Emergency Aid Insurance Company from a firm with assets of $3800 in 1935 to a corporation worth over a million dollars and paying a total of benefits amounting to over half a million is traced this week in a full page advertisement in the Clipper.

Starting as a company selling fire and life insurance policy, the firm has become the parent organization for "The Emergency Aid Fire Insurance Company" and the "Home Finance Company." It is now the only "Old Line Legal Reserve Company" in Alabama south of Montgomery, according to Ross Clark, president. That means salesmen for the company may write just about any kind or amount of life insurance a customer desires.

Death claims paid by the firm total over $500,000 since 1935. Payments reached a high of over $54,000 in 1949. To make a solid financial base for the company, the board of directors has set up a reserve for policy holders of almost $655,000.

Interflowing Life

Lesson for November 12, 1950

AN AUSTRALIAN minister once remarked: "If ever a church could be found whose members treated one another on the outside as they treated one another on the inside, the world would be a better place." In that case, the church would be a true church. As a matter of fact, that is the case in the early church and the world did flock to its doors. From six score people gathered to hear the apostles, to the church of today, the church has been a place of interflowing life. It is the religion of a world.

This Sermonizing World. Ours is a world where the rule is: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost. "Every man has his price." "Look out for Number 1." "Blessed is he that toot his own horn, for he that toot his own horn, the same shall not be tooted."

People get tired of living in a world like that. Something tells them that the everlasting struggle is not the way to live, there must be a better way. Suppose they could look down the street and see that better way actually being put into practice by a little community of people? They ought to be able to see it wherever there is a Christian church. But—is the average church that kind of community? Do the members treat one another on Mondays, that is with more understanding, consideration and affection than the local athletes or Non-Christians show toward one another? Indeed, is there anything whatever that seems to link these First White House church people together with a common bond?

Making Fellowship Real. In a large city there will be a page or more of Syn in the telephone directory. These all have the same name, but most of them don't know one another and don't care. Too often it is the same way with Christians even in the same congregation. They all bear the same name, but that is about all.

What they ought to have is fellowship. This is not a mere word. It can be a real thing. It is like a two-way blood transfusion, in the realm of spirituality. It is interflowing life. It can be the source of the Christian's finest growth and service. Christians develop musically through sharing with other musicians. Every "Future Farmer of America" is going to be a better and more enthusiastic farmer through his association with the F.F.A.

So our Christian faith and life are kept growing and growing through the fellowship of like-minded persons. One thing your Sunday school class and indeed the whole congregation, may well consider seriously, even adopting it as your Project for the Year is this: What can we do to make fellowship more real in our church?

Wider Horizons. CHRISTIAN fellowship needs not only to be enriched; it needs to be enlarged. In a town or section where denominational lines are sharply drawn across the population, there is too much cross-fire. Such a community has a hard time being a community. Many a denomination has been afflicted with the disease of pride. Loyalty to one's own denomination too easily replaces loyalty to the kingdom of God.

Whatever be your own church connection, there are unnumbered true Christians outside the bounds of your church. Do you know them? Do you worship with them from time to time? Do you encourage visitors from other churches? Not only in other denominations but across lines of race and color you can find a thrill in coming close to Christians who may even be much better Christians than yourself.

Young people in your church may be interested in a new organization which is interested in bringing together the thinking of young people in every land. Young Christians can bring to such a project the insight and the spirit of Christian Faith, and learn to know young Christians in other lands through "Youth of All Nations" at 16 St. Luke's Place, New York 14, N. Y., serves as a clearing-house for the exchange of letters and will be glad to hear from you.

Mays-Torric Wed

Mr. and Mrs. James Torric, of Johnston, Rhode Island, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Anne, to Judson Mays, son of Mrs. Fred J. Mays, of Elba, Ala., and the late Mr. Mays. The marriage took place Sept. 9th in St. Theresa's Church, Providence, R. I.

The bride was graduated from the Newport Hospital School of Nursing in September, 1949. Her husband is serving with the Navy on Guam.

Numbers friends will be interested in the above announcement. Mr. Mays was brought up in Elba and attended Elba schools. He was active in youth church work as well as school and social activities. He is a grandson of Mrs. E. L. Harper and the late Mr. Harper.

Mrs. J. M. Bonneau, Mrs. Corinne English, Jack Bonneau, and Margaret English went to the circus in Montgomery Saturday.

Miss Nell Crocker of Thomasville, Ga., spent the weekend with her parents in Bluff Spring community.

Bill had intended to say just the opposite. Without knowing why, he pitied her. He spoke, but what he said was "Oh, Bill, I'm so glad we came out here. It was as if she impelled him to say it."

"Sure, I remember."

"Say it now, Bill. Say you love me!"

He kissed her, repeating the words, cursing himself for doing so.

Why did she have to cling to him so?

He got a grip on himself. He formed the words in his mind.

"Bill, I've got a surprise for you."

"I'm going back to Belfast with you. I've got a job there for the winter. Bill, isn't it grand?"

Lord! Now he was in for it. He hadn't expected that. Well, he'd have to be blunt, cruel. He'd have to tell her once and for all.

"Bill!" There was terror in her tone. He turned quickly. She was looking away from him toward the horizon where the dull glow had been. The dull glow he had thought to be town lights had developed into astonishing brilliance.

"Fire! The whole ridge is ablaze. Say, we'd better get going!"

He jammed his foot down on the starter. The motor whirled, and that was all. Bill swore, yanking out the choke. There was a quivering white, a cough, silence.

Bill opened the roadster's door. "Come on, England's dead. We'll have to run for it."

He yanked her out of the car, started running along the wagon road, dragging her behind him. He hadn't realized that fire could be like this. The speed of its approach amazed him.

"Bill! Wait! You're going too fast."

Bill turned just as she fell forward. He knelt beside her. "Try and get up. We've got to keep going. It's our only chance."

Prudently she tried, sank to the ground, moaning softly. He stopped and lifted her in his arms.

"Bill, don't! You can't! Go on and leave me. There's no use in both of us."

He went on blindly. Behind him now he could hear the crackle of flames. The road ahead was alight from the brilliance of the fire. It required no effort to move.

Then suddenly, ahead, he saw the main highway. There were lights there. The lights from automobiles and trucks.

Bill lay sprawled in the back-seat of a jangling touring car. He opened his eyes and saw Annette. Behind her the sky was dull red.

"Bill, why did you do it? Why didn't you leave me there when—when you knew?"

He said: "Say, what do you take me for? Leave behind the girl I love!"

"Oh, Bill, I've known for a month you didn't. I wouldn't let myself believe I was losing you. I wouldn't give you the chance to tell the truth."

Bill swallowed. So that was it? So that was the reason she had—Suddenly he lifted her in his arms. "Annette," he whispered, "say you love me. Say it, and kiss me, darling."

Weather Turns Cool

Following one of the warmest Octobers on record in this section, the weather turned cool Friday night when a chill north wind sent the mercury to near freezing by Saturday morning. Saturday was a cold, windy day and Sunday morning registered the first frost of the season. Frost was also noticed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. Following the unseasonably warm weather, the cool snap was felt more than it would have been otherwise. The weather is still dry and a rain would be welcome.

Progressive Farmers Don't Worry About 'Fertilizer Shortages' in 1951 THEY WILL GROW THEIR OWN THIS WINTER By PLANTING LUPINE NOW

EVERY FARMER

Should Plant All The
Lupine He Can Turn
Under Next Spring

1. Farmers and the Experiment Stations have definitely shown that Lupine adds nitrogen, organic matter and helps prevent erosion.
2. The National Defense program and need for more cotton may create a shortage of fertilizers in 1951.
3. A good crop of lupine will furnish all the nitrogen needed for good yields of corn or cotton next year.
4. Lupine seed production enables you to grow two crops. Many farmers are following lupine with soybeans, thus getting two cash crops in one year.

W. J. Raley and son Harvey, above, are now sowing BLUE LUPINE for 1951.

Mr. Raley has been planting Blue Lupine for soil building for several years on one of his farms. This year, on the field shown above, Mr. Raley harvested more than 20 tons of peanuts on 30 acres. He gives Lupine all the credit.

On another farm which has not been planted in Blue Lupine, Mr. Raley gathered only 3 tons of peanuts from 13 acres. This year Mr. Raley says that he is going to plant all the Blue Lupine he can turn under next Spring.

WIREGRASS EXPERIMENTAL STATION RECORDS SHOW BLUE LUPINE More Productive than Commercial Fertilizer

Here are the records of three separate plots at the Wiregrass Experiment Station based on a 10 year average: Plot one has had no Nitrogen, but 8% Phosphorus and 8% Potash; Plot two has 25% lbs. commercial nitrogen, 8% Phosphorus and 8% Potash; Plot three has had Blue Lupine (no commercial nitrogen) 6% Phosphorus and 8% Potash. All three have been planted in cotton continuously. The Blue Lupine plot has shown better than a 600 pound increase in seed cotton over Plot two and an even more considerable increase over Plot one.

HARVEST LUPINE—Follow with SOYBEANS for a DOUBLE CASH CROP

Planting and harvesting Blue Lupine and Soybeans not only builds soil but gives 2 cash crops in one year. In this manner you are continuously building your soil and reaping a double harvest in each year. The price from your Soybeans alone will more than pay you for planting both crops.

Merchandise Mart Exhibits Newest Gadgets

CHICAGO, Ill.—Ever heard of a spherical "cube"? Or a magnetic soap holder?

There are such things. And they're practical too.

In Chicago, there is a permanent, constantly expanding exhibit known as "Good Design." Twice yearly, a jury of designers from the Museum of Modern Art in New York selects home furnishings designed for present-day life, in general regard to usefulness, to production methods and materials and to the progressive taste of the day.

The exhibit, which is sponsored by the world's largest market place, the Merchandise Mart, includes not only new gadgets like the soap holder which suspends the soap in the air for drying, and a tray which reverses round-ice cubes, but hundreds of other items to aid harmony and color and conserve time for Mr. and Mrs. America.

Useful Appliances

There is a rotary egg-beater which makes manual mixing of liquids practically effortless; there is a soap holder which suspends the soap in the air for drying, and a tray which reverses round-ice cubes, but hundreds of other items to aid harmony and color and conserve time for Mr. and Mrs. America.

PROMOTED

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ham have been notified that their son, William Wesley Ham Jr., who is now living in France in the near future.

SLOWLY IMPROVING

Jesse Brown, proprietor of the Elba, Ala. restaurant, has been slowly improving. He is now able to be up and about after undergoing a major operation for three weeks. When seen Wednesday, he said he is slowly regaining his strength but is still quite weak.

CAR ACCIDENT

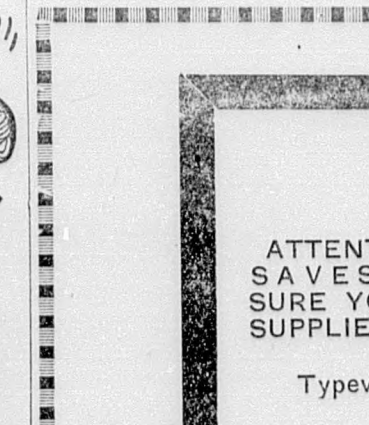

Mrs. Ernest Taylor was painfully injured last Friday when her car ran into a deep ditch on Brantley Rd. near the Army Air Corps. The car was seriously damaged.

As a result of their efforts, the public and as manufacturers may receive view items which are of value, portable, demountable, versatile and space-conserving for use in the home. There are folding chairs, nests of tables, a telescopic coffee table, and a lamp to adapt to light an entire room. In most items, strength is obtained not through massiveness but through the use of modern materials and techniques—modern plywood, for example.

The residence which Mr. & Mrs. Milton Edmondson are building on the rear of the S. S. Edmondson lot in West Elba is nearing completion and will be soon ready for occupancy. They and their two sons have been living in the S. S. Edmondson home since they moved to Elba from Pensacola, Fla., nearly a year ago.

Youth Asks Police to Keep Him From Committing Crime

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The detective bureau was startled when an 18-year-old youth walked in and told detective Sgt. Charles Bauer, "I'm afraid I'm going to hold someone up."

"Have you got a gun?" the detective asked.

"Yes," the youth replied — and reached under his left arm.

"Wait a minute," said Hepper. "I'll get it." He reached under the youth's arm and pulled out a loaded .22 caliber pistol. He also found 14 cartridges in a sock in the boy's pocket.

The youth told police he had been discharged from a mental institution at Buffalo, N. Y., four months ago and had been living with an aunt. He said he conceived the hold-up idea because he owed $180 for repairs to an automobile.

Accident Victim Undergoes Thirty-Two Operations

EAST GRINSTEAD, Eng.—Gerry Fitzgerald, 30, a Los Angeles bus driver, has undergone his 32nd operation.

Four years ago almost every bone in Fitzgerald's body except his spine was broken in an airplane crash in Switzerland. Since then he has returned to England regularly to have his bones set by Sir Archibald McIndoe, a plastic surgeon.

Fitzgerald said that now he hoped to "go back to God's country and his home."

Hungry Horse Dam Generators to Start in 1953, Reported

HUNGARY, Budapest.—Work progress on the fourth largest and third highest concrete dam in the world. It is located in a deep canyon in the foothills of the Tatra mountains in northwestern Hungary.

The project is scheduled for completion in 1953 at an estimated cost of $130,000,000. Its first hydroelectric generator is to go on line in the fall of 1953. When completed, its four generators will add about 300,000 kilowatts to the power output of the country.

Dr. Paul J. Ravier, director of the Bonneville project on the Columbia river, reports that Montana are benefiting from the Hungry Horse project even before it is completed.

The Montana Power company has signed an agreement with the Bonneville Power administration. "Under the arrangement," he said, "in the summer we transfer surplus power from Montana over the lines of the Washington Water Power Company. This enables the Montana Power company to fill its reservoirs for use in the winter, when the streams are down."

"In return, the Montana Power company supplies power the year round to all rural electrification administration units in its territory at our rates. So the BPA is getting the benefits from Hungry Horse power before the dam is finished."

"The Montana Power company also agrees to put in rate reductions in 1952 as soon as it begins to get Hungry Horse power."

Despite the integration of government and private systems in the northwest power pool, the region reportedly still boasts hearty champions of the theory that private industry should control the distribution and thus have a hold on the generation of power from government projects.

Goodman Junior High Stages Special Day

The Goodman Junior High School observed American Education Week last week. Friday was designated "Visitors Day."

There were forty-eight registered parents attending. They visited the various class rooms during the morning.

At noon parents, teachers, and pupils were served a lunch in the lunch room which consisted of wick stew, garden peas, lettuce and tomato salad, and bread with peaches and cookies for dessert.

After lunch everybody assembled in the auditorium for a special program. Two fifth grade boys gave a flaming graph story entitled "The Prodigal Son."

A prayer was sung by Lois Barley. A pageant entitled "We Hold These Truths," portraying the settlement of American was given by a group of high school students. The fourth grade boys gave two articles "What is your Mental Diet or Intake?" and "Sins That Lose a Kingdom." In these the careful selection of material entering the body by the brain was written in an airplane crash in Switzerland. Since then he has returned to England regularly to have his bones set by Sir Archibald McIndoe, a plastic surgeon.

Fitzgerald said that now he hoped to "go back to God's country and his home."

Called to Oklahoma

Messers, J. D. Smith, J. D. Whitman, A. R. Smith and Roy Barlow left Sunday morning for Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, to attend the funeral of Mr. Smith's oldest brother, Drayden.

Dr. E. M. Warr, optometrist, announced this week that he will open an office in Elba in the near future. The new professional addition to the community is a native of Alabama and spent five months internship with G. W. Blakey in Dothan. Dr. Warr graduated from the Southern College of Optometry in Memphis where he received his Doctor of Optometry degree.

The optometrist was born in Clayton, Barbour county, and graduated from high school there. He attended Howard College in Birmingham for a year, then received his BS in Education from Troy State. His major was Social Science. He has taken some graduate work in Education Administration at Auburn.

Prior to being drafted into the army in 1942, Dr. Warr was principal of the Abbott (Henry County) City Schools. While in the service, the optometrist attended OCS. After a year in the army, he was discharged as a first lieutenant.

Since the war, and prior to attending the Southern School of Optometry, Dr. Warr worked as a coordinator for veterans training in the State Department of Education. He then secured a civil service appointment and worked at training office for the VA for two years in this area.

Besides his period of internship with Dr. Blakey in Dothan, Dr. Warr did a year's clinical duty while in school in Memphis. He went to Troy State for three years and served five years as the secretary to the Board of Education in Henry County, Ga. He was also employed as a business clerk at the Ashford High School. Mrs. Warr was employed as an instructor in the Miller-Travis Secretarial School, a business college, while Dr. Warr attended the optometry college.

Dr. and Mrs. Warr were wed in 1937 and have two girls, one two years old and the other seven. The older girl attends school and is in the second grade. They plan to move to the residence now occupied by P. G. Miles as soon as Mr. Miles completes his new home.

Dr. Warr's office is located next to the Garrett Motor Co. He will be in his office six days a week eight hours a day.

SEWER EXTENSION

The city has built a sewer extension from a point about 200 feet south of the Jones store on Smith Ave. The new sewer line crosses the street at the Jones store and then runs along a quarter of a mile to the Luke McCollough home. This point is as far as the sewer line will be extended as the grade will not permit going farther.

Goods Made by Blind Are For Sale in Elba

Each year all the federated study clubs in the state sponsor the sale of blind made goods made at Talladega by the adult blind. They will be shown in the Council Room in the City Hall each afternoon beginning Monday, Nov. 27 through Dec. 1.

This year the study clubs of Elba, Three-in-one, Elba, Study Club and 20th Century Club are cooperating in this project and representatives from one of the organizations will be present on these afternoons to display the goods.

All proceeds go to this institution and these club members will appreciate your buying these items.

The city has built a sewer extension from a point about 200 feet south of the Jones store on Smith Ave. The new sewer line crosses the street at the Jones store and then runs along a quarter of a mile to the Luke McCollough home. This point is as far as the sewer line will be extended as the grade will not permit going farther.
